February Meeting Report

Chimneyville Presentation H. Grady Howell, Jr.

Compatriot Howell presented an overview of the various times the Federal forces occupied Jackson during the War and discussed the destruction caused by the Federal troops on each visit. This account was a small portion of the information researched for Grady's newest book on "Chimneyville" as Jackson came to be called as a result of all the chimney structures remaining after various buildings were destroyed by fire.

Compatriot Dan Duggan gave his "this day in the WBTS" for February 23.

Music was presented by Jerry Brooks who performed "The Night They Drove Ole Dixie Down" and by Wayne Anderson who did a new song, "I Have to Walk This Road All Alone."

Call for Prize Donations

Adjutant Ron Stowers reports that the stock of books for prizes at camp meetings is getting low. Donations of books, including previously read ones, will be greatly appreciated. Other prizes will be welcomed as well, although books seem to be the most popular item. Thank you.

 ID sought for soldiers who fought in Korea

Recent developments in our relationship with North Korea has seen the return of remains of U.S. soldiers who were lost in the Korean conflict. In an effort to identify these MIAs and return them to their homes, the Department of Defense is asking for help locating living relatives of these men. They hope to make DNA matches that will conclusively identify these brave soldiers.

Chaplain's Dispatch

Dear Friends and Compatriots,

The late commentator Paul Harvey aired the following prayer, offered by Dr. Billy Graham, on his radio program, THE REST OF THE STORY. He received a larger response to this program than any he has ever aired. With the Lord's help, may this prayer sweep over our nation and wholeheartedly become our desire so that we can again be called "ONE NATION UNDER God."

'Heavenly Father, we come before you today to ask your forgiveness and to seek your direction and guidance. We know Your Word says, 'Woe to those who call evil good,' but that is exactly what we have done. We have lost our spiritual equilibrium and reversed our values. We have exploited the poor and called it the lottery. We have rewarded laziness and called it welfare. We have killed our unborn and called it choice. We have shot abortionists and called it justifiable. We have neglected to discipline our children and called it building self esteem. We have abused power and called it politics. We have coveted our neighbor's possessions and called it ambition. We have polluted the air with profanity and pornography and called it freedom of expression. We have ridiculed the time-honored values of our forefathers and called it enlightenment. Search us, Oh God, and know our hearts today; cleanse us from every sin and Set us free. Amen'

Sincerely,

Hubert W. Miazza
Chaplain

sponse to the heavy handed governing envisioned by the current administration. There are at present a number of states who have passed Tenth Amendment Resolutions and forwarded them on to Washington.

These resolutions are telling the current administration that; the 10th Amendment defines the total scope of federal power as being that specifically granted by the United States Constitution and no more. That the scope of powers defined by the 10th Amendment means that the federal government was created by the States specifically to be an agent of the States. That in today's environment the States are demonstrably treated as agents of the federal government. They state what many of us have been saying about the current as well as so many of the past federal administrations: Congress simply can not commandeer the legislative and regulatory processes of the states and that a number of the pending proposals may violate the US constitution. These resolutions demand that the federal government back off any and all mandates that are beyond the scope of its Constitutionally authorized powers.

Will it do any good? Probably not; but it will let the administration know that they are treading on thin ice with a lot of people. Talk to your state legislatures and request that Mississippi become one of those states with backbone enough to stand up to Washington. We've been there before.....

Trivia Question:

This month's question asks:

What Kentucky battle also has, as part of its landscape, a Bull Run?

February's question asked:

Who refused to use pepper on his food saying it gave him pains in his left leg?

The answer: Stonewall Jackson

Commander's Column

TO MY FELLOW COMPATRIOTS:

I was very sorry to have missed our February meeting at which our esteemed compatriot Mr. Grady Howell gave the program. From all accounts the program was outstanding and gave a great account of "Chimneyville" before, during and after the war. On another occasion I got a chance to look at Mr. Howell's book and it certainly is worthy with all the pictures and great research. Thanks to Past Commander Green for carrying on (and I mean "carrying on") in my absence. I understand he touched on those things that all camp commanders think about; retaining members and recruiting new ones. We all need to increase our efforts in these arenas. Strive to bring new folks to the meetings. Make new members feel a part of the camp. A little back slapping can't hurt.

I would like to give kudos to the Rankin Rough and Ready Camp and their commander Tim Cupit. For the past two years Tim and company have put on a civil war program in Brandon. It has been very well received and those involved need to be commended on their efforts. This is exactly the kind of situation and program that helps to advance the cause of educating the public and spreading the true history of the confederate soldier. Thanks Tim for your good work!

Driving to work today and listening to a radio program, I actually heard a yankee statesman say that representative government as envisioned by the founders died when the south surrendered 144 years ago. He actually admitted that this country was founded on the principle that a federal government existed solely on the consent of the governed. I guess he meant that a "government of the people, by the people and for the people" actually applied to those southern states in "rebellion" from 1861-1865 and not to the federal armies that were brought up to stifle America's second revolution.

What prompted the conversation with the radio host was discussion of the current wave of Tenth Amendment Resolutions sweeping the country in re-
